

Commercial Contingency

Hausfeld realizes that there are many ways where businesses can be seriously harmed in commercial settings, and we want to assist those clients. However, the standard hourly legal fee model can effectively price companies out of pursuing legitimate claims. Hausfeld offers alternative billing arrangements for such instances, offering top legal services on a success fee basis.

Hausfeld is trusted by businesses and federal judges to lead large and complex litigation. Over 30 times since 2008, U.S. federal courts have trusted Hausfeld lawyers to prosecute these cases as lead counsel for multiple clients on a contingency basis. We often represent businesses and individuals on a contingency basis, not charging a fee unless and until the firm recovers for the client.

Hausfeld also harnesses its tremendous negotiation expertise on behalf of its commercial clients to develop creative solutions that attempt to resolve disputes quickly, permanently, and cost-effectively. When a quick resolution is not possible, Hausfeld's lawyers are top-flight in navigating litigation through the courtroom. The firm has the resources and experience to take on cases of any magnitude, and in any context – be it in a federal or state court, or in arbitral or judicial proceedings in jurisdictions around the globe.

Clients regularly look to Hausfeld's commercial litigation practice for guidance with respect to:

- Antitrust
- Breach of Contract
- Commercial Litigation
- Fraudulent Marketing of Products and Services
- Franchise Sales and Marketing
- Intellectual Property

Hausfeld's commercial contingency practice reflects our willingness to share in the risks of litigation with our clients and aligns our interests with our clients: we win when our clients win.
