About Hausfeld

Hausfeld & Co LLP is a global dispute only law firm with 12 offices on both sides of the Atlantic, specialising in competition, commercial & financial disputes, human rights and environmental law. Since our launch in 2009 the firm has pioneered the private enforcement in competition law in Europe and has led a number of high-profile claims, often against large defendants such as banks, large corporates and big tech, which have defined the limits of the developing law in this area. In the last few years, Hausfeld has also developed a strong commercial litigation practice. The team is given top rankings for Competition Litigation in both Chambers and Legal 500 and has quickly been moving up the rankings for its Commercial and Banking Litigation practices. Alongside, we have growing practices in product liability, environmental, consumer and human rights litigation. We have 20 litigation partners in London and 53 worldwide.

Much of our work involves acting for claimants and we have a diverse client base, ranging from multinational corporations, to SMEs and private individuals. Our clients include many leading European and global brands. On certain cases, we work alongside our associate practices in the United States, Germany and the Netherlands. This cross-border capability further deepens our practice and has enabled us to reach precedent-setting global settlements. We also often act for groups of clients and are at the forefront of the growing number of collective claims in the UK. Offering individuals and business access to justice is at the cornerstone of what we do. This means we offer our clients a wide range of flexible fee structures, often acting on a no win no fee basis. We are committed to access to justice and run an active pro-bono practice. Having been one of the early adopters of third-party litigation funding, we have strong relationships with leading funders worldwide.
