

Nabil Charkaoui

Nabil's practice focuses on competition and financial services litigation.

Expertise

Nabil trained at Hausfeld, which included a six-month placement in the area of trade finance and banking litigation. Since qualifying, Nabil has also worked at Sullivan & Worcester UK LLP. Previously, he conducted internships in arbitration and corporate law in the United Arab Emirates. At Hausfeld, he has developed an expertise in managing competition damages actions as a result of competition infringements, notably cartels.

Clients

Nabil has acted for claimants in a number of multi-million High Court actions in relation to complex financial services disputes, and damages claims arising out of anticompetitive behaviour. Most notably, Nabil played a key role in the Hausfeld legal team representing a group of manufactures in a pan-European damages claim against Europe's top four producers of flexible polyurethane foam.
